Good afternoon

You may be aware that we are currently reviewing our Public Space Protection Order (PSPO). PSPOs must be reviewed every three years, and our current one is due for review in 2024.

A PSPO is a tool under ASB legislation which enables us to restrict certain activities in certain places. The Council's current PSPO has specific restrictions around dog control and tackling nuisance caused by people drinking alcohol in public places, where it is having a negative impact on the area. Full details of the specific orders and an interactive map showing where they are in place can be found on the Council's website - Public space protection orders | Central Bedfordshire Council.

We have recently launched a 12-week public consultation to gather residents feedback - Have your say on rules about walking your dog or drinking alcohol in public spaces | Central Bedfordshire Council and during this period we would also like to offer you an opportunity to meet with us to discuss any questions/queries or suggestions you may have about the PSPO in your area.

If you would like to meet to discuss this further, please let me know and we can look for a mutually convenient time for a Teams meeting to discuss. These meetings are optional and you can of course feedback via the online consultation.

If you have any queries or require any further detail on the PSPO please let me know.

I look forward to hearing from you in due course.

Thanks
